Form 2210

U. S. Treasury Department — Internal Revenue Service

STATEMENT RELATING TO UNDERPAYMENT OF ESTIMATED INCOME TAX BY INDIVIDUALS

(To be filed with Form 1040)

1958

Name

Harry S. and Bess W. Truman

Address (Number, street, city, postal zone, and State)

219 North Delaware Street - Independence, Missouri

Declarations of Estimated Tax (Form 1040-ES) and payments of estimated tax are required to be made by individuals whose income taxes are not sufficiently paid throughout the year by means of withholding from wages and salaries. The law imposes an additional charge for failure to pay estimated tax in the amounts and by the installment dates specified by law.

This form is intended to help taxpayers to determine whether, on each installment date, their payments were equal to ¼ of 70 percent of the tax liability shown on their returns. If any payment was less than this amount, the form also provides for: (a) determining whether a taxpayer qualifies under any of the four statutory exceptions to the application of the additional charge, and (b) figuring the amount of such charge, if any.

The form is designed for the usual situation in which a taxpayer files his return on a calendar year basis, and is required to pay his estimated tax in four equal installments. Your computation will be different if you were not required to file a declaration until a date later than April 15, 1958, or if you amended your declaration. In this case you may obtain advice at your nearest Internal Revenue Service office.

If your return is not on a calendar year basis, change the installment dates below to correspond with your fiscal year.

PART I.—FOR ALL INDIVIDUALS EXCEPT FARMERS (Farmers Use Part II)

Computation of Underpayments

By filling in lines 1 through 4 below you can determine whether by each installment date you paid less than 17½% (¼ of 70%) of the tax liability shown on your return. If you paid at least 17½% by each installment date, it will not be necessary to file this form.

1. Income tax shown on line 14, page 1, Form 1040 for 1958 ..... $ 59,737.57

	Due Dates of Installments
	Apr. 15, 1958	June 15, 1958	Sept. 15, 1958	Jan. 15, 1959
2. Enter in each column 17½ percent of amount on line 1.	$ 10,454.08	$ 10,454.08	$ 10,454.08	$ 10,454.08
3. (a) Amounts paid, credited, or withheld[1] for each period.	$ 14,863.54	$ 14,863.54	$ 14,863.54	$ 14,863.53
(b) Overpayment of previous installment[2]	XXXXXXXX	4,409.46	8,818.92	13,228.38
(c) Total of line 3		19,273.00	23,682.46	28,091.91
4. Underpayment (or overpayment) (line 2 less line 3(c)) .	$ (4,409.46)	$ (8,818.92)	$ (13,228.38)	$ (17,637.83)

[1] The amount of tax withheld for the year may be considered withheld in four equal installments, or you may use the amounts actually withheld for the period. If your return was filed by January 31, 1959, and the balance of tax paid in full, include such balance on line 3(a) for the January 15, 1959 installment.

[2] Any overpayment of an installment on line 4 in excess of all prior underpayments should be applied as a credit against the next installment.

There is no additional charge imposed on an underpayment shown on line 4 for any installment date if by that date you made the minimum payment determined under any one of the four following exceptions (see table at top of page 2 for summary of computations):

Exception 1.—This exception applies if the total amount paid equals or exceeds the total amount which would have been due if the estimated tax were the tax shown on your 1957 return. This exception may apply if you had a substantial increase in income over the previous year. The 1957 return must cover a taxable year of 12 months and must show a tax liability.

Exception 2.—This exception applies if the total amount paid equals or exceeds the total amount which would have been due if the estimated tax were a tax based on the facts shown on your 1957 income tax return but computed at the 1958 tax rates and with the personal exemptions for 1958. Use a Form 1040 for 1958 as a guide in making this computation.

Exception 3.—This exception applies if by the installment date there was paid at least 70 percent of a tax which would have been due by the installment date, computed by placing on an annual basis the taxable income for the months ending in the taxable year before the month in which the installment was required to be paid. This exception may apply in cases in which smaller amounts of income are received in the earlier part of the year than in the later part.

To make this computation, figure your income[3] from the first of the year to the end of the month before the applicable installment date. Divide this amount by the number of months and multiply by 12. Then figure what your tax would have been if this had been your income for the year.

Exception 4.—This exception applies if the total amount paid by the installment date equals or exceeds 90 percent of a tax computed on the basis of the actual taxable income for the months ending in the taxable year before the month in which the installment was required to be paid. This exception generally applies when large amounts of income are received late in the year.

To make this computation, figure your income from the first of the year to the end of the month before the applicable installment date. Then figure what your 1958 income tax would have been if this had been your income for the year.

[3] Income for this purpose is the adjusted gross income if you used the standard deduction, or the taxable income computed without the deduction for personal exemptions if you itemized your deductions.
